Why Basic Science?

According to the fifth Deans' committee report, globally, greater emphasis is being placed on the life sciences – Biochemistry, Microbiology, Biotechnology, Genetics, Molecular Biology, Bioremediation and Computational Biology.

Agricultural scientists should increasingly seek support of these frontier areas in research.

Accordingly, agriculture curricula should put 'Agriculture' in the middle of "STEM" (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) to make "STEAM" – where A means Agriculture.

The revised curricula should increasingly be internalizing the "STEAM" concept.

In view of the above, Basic Science subjects are in demand in agriculture, pharmaceuticals, health care and research industries. Ultimately, base of each and every applied subject is Basic Science.

The College of Basic Science and Humanities

College of Basic Science and Humanities was established in the year 2010 as per ICAR Model Act (revised), 2009. Programme pattern is adapted from PAU, Ludhiana and OUAT,
