

Press Note

Dated: 03/09/2015

Sardarkrushinagar, Dantiwada, Gujarat

The Winter School on Tools and Techniques of Planning, Monitoring, Evaluation and Impact Assessment of Extension Programmes organized by Sardarkrushinagar Dantiwada Agriculture University (SDAU) is inaugurated today by the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor of the university, Prof. (Dr.) Ashok A Patel at Sardar Smriti Kendra, SDAU, in the gracious presence of Dr. R. R. Shah, the Director of Research and Dean P. G. Studies; Dr. H. N. Kher, the Director of HRD; Dr. K. A. Thakkar, the Director of Extension Education; Dr. M. R. Prajapati, the Course Director of the Winter School and the Dean Agriculture along with the other Deans and Principals of the colleges of the university.

The course director, Dr. M. R. Prajapati in his welcome address illustrated the importance of planning, monitoring, evaluation and impact assessment of programmes and projects to the participants. Dr. R. R. Shah gave clear view of various research activities carried out by SDAU. Dr. H. N. Kher described the participants about the critical factors of HRD and the various initiatives taken by the university in the direction of HRD and Dr. K. A. Thakkar briefed the extension activities performed by the university to the participants.

There are 25 trainees from different disciplines who participate in the winter school. The participants are from Tamilnadu, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Chhattisgarh, Uttarakhand, Assam, New Delhi and Gujarat states.

Inauguration of the Winter School by the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor of SDAU

Participants of the Winter School

Deans and Principals of different colleges of SDAU